THIRTY-NINTH YEAR, No. 45

W. J. GEX SPEAKER AT C. OF C. AND LAUNCHES SERIES OF OBJECTIVES

Short-Cut Highway, Natural Gas, Pine Hills Bridge and Lights on Bay Auto Bridge Subjects Constructive And Timely Program.

At the monthly meeting Tuesday night of Bay St. Louis Chamber of Commerce, a program for immediate procedure was adopted, which included four major projects. After an address by W. J. Gex, local attorney, projects adopted were: Inviting natural gas service to Bay St. Louis and Waveland; conferring with Louisiana officials on building short-cut New Orleans-Gulf Coast auto route and highway; restoring the electric lighting of Bay St. Louis; Pass Christian bi-county auto bridge over Bay St. Louis; proposing building of a bridge over Bay St. Louis to connect with Pine Hills hotel and club.

W. J. Gex, C. G. Moreau and C. C. McDonald were appointed the committee to notify Louisiana officials that the short-cut road from Bay St. Louis to Pearl River line; Fountain Martin, W. Val Yates and Dr. James A. Evans a committee on the bridge project to Pine Hills; Henry W. Osoinach, W. J. Gex, Jr., and Mayor Charles Traub a committee for the restoration of light over bi-county bridge, and Mrs. M. J. J. a committee of one to make a survey of houses and prospective users of gas in Bay St. Louis.

Mr. Gex, who is a member of the Chamber of Commerce, spoke both as a member and public-spirited citizen. His address was the keynote of the meeting and the program he proposed unanimously adopted.

Reviewing his address, he said the following, which covers the program proposed, adopted and which is planned to put into execution immediately.

1st. Somebody to impress Governor Long with the real facts. We have a road, now you join us. We have a law providing means for us to pay half of the bridge, now do your part. In view of the fact that we have had a conference with Mr. Thames, we ought to appoint a committee now, and have that in mind, and we ought to go to Governor Long and say, "We have the road you can't say we have not the road; it is there. Then, he can only say, but we want a hard-surfaced road, then we could say to Mr. Thames: 'Governor Long wants this road to be hard-surfaced; let's hard-surface it.'"

2nd. Get your secretary to forward the assessed valuation of your city, and your county, their bonded indebtedness. The population of the county and the city, the approximate valuation of the county and city. Have this information so that you can show it to people who want to come here and live who say our taxes are high. True, we have had high taxes, the reasons, I am not going into, that is in the past; but here is what we have been doing. Each year we have been reducing it, and now the proportion of the indebtedness to the assessed valuation has dropped about one-half. So that you could then say to an investor that there is only approximately a 6 per cent mortgage bond issue against your property, evidencing one or two facts, either your taxes will go down very early, or now, that is the thing to say to a man who says his taxes are high. Let's appoint a committee and have that done.

3rd. Let's get after this gas proposition, and let's everybody at each meeting offer something constructive that we can do. Fortified with the list and information in reference to the number of homes desiring gas, I don't think it would be ninety days before we would have gas here.

4th. Then let's see if we can reach Mr. Hecht, and whether or not they are ready to put that Pine Hills Hotel here in Bay St. Louis or not; let's let them know they will have our cooperation; that we will join them in doing what we can from the public standpoint.

Now, let's go after these things. I don't think the city or county have refused you anything, but those gentlemen have got to have subjects, they must be helped, let's carry these ideas through.

That is what I have come here for, and if you think these ideas are good let's put them down into a program and let's go after them. Report next week what we have done about them. If I am wrong about this, let's hear about it; if not, let's carry them out.

Extra Precaution on Halloween Night Avoided Property Destruction

Mayor Traub, who has the police department in charge, is to be commended for his placing of five extra special policemen over the city all Halloween night, when that time is generally misinterpreted by many men and boys to take license and indulge in pranks that only too often spell vandalism.

As a result of this precaution, there was no damage reported the next morning, and everybody's property was intact as the night before. It is certain every taxpayer will appreciate the caution exercised on the part of the mayor and the committee, concerning all well.

BOARDS SUPERVISORS AND CITY RECOGNIZE VALUE OF PUBLICITY

Appropriate Funds From Advertising Funds to Chamber of Commerce Maintenance.

At the regular meeting of the Board of Supervisors, held this week, the sum of $125.00 was appropriated from the advertising fund to the Forestry Department, along with a like amount appropriated by the H. Weston Lumber Co., of Logtown, in order to enable a tour of the county by the State Forestry Department's traveling truck. This van is fully equipped for the exhibition of educational moving pictures and to show by example and result the ravages and other deterioration caused by forest fires. Lecturers also travel over the State with the van and instruct the public. The trip over the county will prove of educational value and constructive result and the Board's approval will prove of value to the people and country.

The Board also appropriated the sum of $300 to the Hancock County Chamber of Commerce at Bay St. Louis from the same fund, as its contribution to help the maintenance of this clearing house for the people's best interest. The city last month appropriated the sum of $250.00 along with $125.00 for other publicity purposes.

President Emilio Cue explains the mission of the forestry van and well shows the advantage of having it tour Hancock county in such commendable work.

LOCAL LEGION POST SPONSORING SAFETY PROGRAM FOR 1931

Post Commander Capd'pon of the local Post, the American Legion states that its membership is sponsoring a Safety Program for 1931. Child Safety Signs will be erected in this and other surrounding communities November 11th.

The local Post Engineering Squad, will meet a special American Legion Relay Car at 11 o'clock at the local Post Office and receive the signs to be erected immediately afterward. The signs are made of steel, two feet in diameter, with five coats of paint. In outline, the sign resembles the Official Button of The American Legion and appears, in Legion colors, blue and gold.

Lettering in the center of each sign will be "Protect—Bay St. Louis Children." Permission has been received from the State Highway Department to erect them on the Highway since they are not advertisements, but safety markers and will aid the Highway Department in its program of placing danger and other warning signs.

Week of Prayer Is Announced For First Methodist Church, 10-14

The Woman's Missionary Society will observe the Week of Prayer, November 10-14 at the Methodist Church. The service each afternoon will begin at 3 o'clock, except Tuesday and Wednesday when it will be at 2:30. The leaders for each afternoon will be as follows: Monday—Mrs. Alex Allison. Tuesday—Mrs. C. C. McDonald. Wednesday—Mrs. W. S. Speer. Thursday—Mrs. E. E. Aldeman. Friday—Mrs. Porter Barnes.

Bay Furniture Company Moves Into Larger Business Building

The Bay Furniture Company, Ulysses Cuevas, proprietor, has moved from its former location on Railroad avenue, into the Monticello Bldg., corner Union and Hancock streets, formerly occupied by the Riviera Company, and has moved a new stock of many attractive things and all reasonably priced, featuring, among other things, the famous Atwater Kent Radio.

The greater portion of stock is brand new and worthy of visit. Mr. Cuevas will continue receiving goods for Christmas trade, and will carry an assortment whereby he will be able to serve different tastes, demands and pocketbooks. You are invited to call and see the new things. Mr. Cuevas announces. No obligation to buy.

Business Event At Hotel Weston Wednesday Evening

Bay St. Louis Chamber of Commerce has sent out invitations to practically one hundred business people of this section to attend a complimentary dinner at Hotel Weston on the evening of next Wednesday, 7 o'clock, at which George R. Rea, president, will preside, given by the Chamber of Commerce.

The invitation says the purpose of the occasion will be to consider the subject of "Buy At Home" from the viewpoint of both the buyer and seller. Special speakers will address this representative business gathering.

BANKERS TO MEET TODAY IN BAY CITY

Members of Group 8 and Visiting Bankers Will Occupy Day In Meet and Luncheon

Bay St. Louis today welcomes members of Group 8 of Mississippi State Bankers' Association, along with guest bankers from over the State, New Orleans and Memphis, and the meeting promises to be one of the more active and generally successful ones than heretofore. Group 8 is composed of bankers from Covington, Lamar, Forrest, Perry, Greene, George, Stone, Pearl River, Hattiesburg, Hattiesburg, and Jackson. W. B. Herring of Pascagoula First National Bank is group vice-president and will preside.

The business session will be held at the A. & G. Theater beginning at 9:30 o'clock, when registration will be made. At 10 o'clock, meeting called to order.

The invocation will be rendered by Rev. R. E. Grubb, rector of Christ Episcopal church, of Bay St. Louis, and the address of welcome will be by the Hon. Robert L. Genin, responded to by Mr. C. L. Pigford, vice president, First National Bank of Lumberton. Other numbers will follow, viz:

The Value of Clearing House Organizations: By J. L. Berry, Vice-president National Bank of Gulfport.

Bank Loans and their respective classification: By J. F. Flournoy, Vice-President Whitney National Bank of New Orleans.

Banking Under Present Conditions and Bank Investments: By F. W. Poole, President First National Bank of Hattiesburg.

Election of Member of Nominating Committee from Group Eight. Banquet at Hotel Weston, 1 o'clock, at which Clayton Rand will preside.

Leo W. Seal, Hancock County Bank and Geo. R. Rea, Merchants Bank and Trust Company, will be local hosts. Members of both bank directorates will participate, and members of the Rotary Club will be guests of the local banks and bankers.

VITAL SPOTS OF W. J. GEX ADDRESS BEFORE BAY ST. LOUIS C. OF C.

At The Regular Monthly Meeting Held Tuesday Evening Before the Membership Assembly.

Attorney Walter J. Gex's address before the Bay St. Louis Chamber of Commerce Tuesday evening was an exposition of good thought and clearly showed the way and how those things mostly needed just now for Bay St. Louis and Hancock county might be procured.

Mr. Gex's address was most substantial and practicable and The Echo regrets it cannot print it in its entirety. However, excerpts from various portions will carry the high spots.

Concerning the proposed short-cut road, Mr. Gex said, in part:

Now, I find all of the Chambers of Commerce resolve and resolute, but I don't find what they do. I think their heart is in the right place, but they don't analyze the situation, and they don't know the cure. I will illustrate that by the short cut. You have heard a lot about the short cut. We have had meetings about it, and word from Gov. Long that he would give us a short cut if we had a road to meet him. Don't you know we have a road at Pearlton, we have a short cut. We have all of the road right here. Now, let's ask for the short cut. Let's ask for the kind of road we should have, but this Chamber of Commerce has met with the New Orleans Association of Commerce and we have resolved and resolute, I don't know what for, because we have a short cut. We have the nearest road we can have from Pearl River. Gov. Long has never told us the kind of road we should have, that it should be hard-surfaced, he said: "Whenever you join me at Pearl River, near Pearlton." We have a road there. He has never been asked: "What do you want? Now, what have we done? That only illustrates we have not been on the job. We have a short cut to Pearl River, why haven't we gone and said to Long, 'What's biting you, the road is there.' We among ourselves have been fighting as to whether we should have one coming down the beach or use the old one, but that is of no concern to Long. Gov. Long does not know that we have our part of the road, not a member of the Association of Commerce in New Orleans knows it, and if we know it we have been fallen to sleep on it."

Our Resources and Advertising. Of our resources, our financial status and advertising Mr. Gex said among other things on the subject: "Now, that is one thing, another thing I think we have been lax, and very lax in, is advertising what we have. I take a bond to New York and offer it to a banker and they all look alike, he has never heard of Bay St. Louis, and does not care for your bond, why? Most of the counties in Mississippi are unable to pay their bonds. Hancock county has an assessment of six million, and we owe about $650,000.00, less than 10 per cent of the assessed valuation of the county. I think the Chamber of Commerce ought to have a card printed that would show her population, the amount of our assessed valuation, our approximate values, and amount of our assessment, and the bonded indebtedness. Then we should apprise the man who wants to come here that his taxes have been high because we have had a terrible indebtedness, out of which we are getting very rapidly, because I can't see that we have anything in the world to sell here but Sunshine. Climatic conditions, and a beautiful town to live in. We have no smoke stacks, nothing to manufacture here, and if we build in the back we must build from the front to the back. The Chamber of Commerce ought to be able to tell you what the population of Bay St. Louis is, what the population of the city and the county, the proportionate amount of indebtedness to the assessed valuation. We don't owe very much money, this county owes less than 10 per cent of the assessed valuation."

When a man comes here to invest the first thing he says is, "Your taxes are too high." Well, they are, they have been. Do you know that we owe two million dollars, but all we owe at this time is $650,000.00. We have had to spend $75,000.00 to $80,000.00 to make the county Tick Free, now the county is tick free. We have settled down in the last five years to paying our indebtedness, which may have been unwise, however, our indebtedness now is only $650,000.00. In other words, we have got to go out after the fellow, and quit resolving but get some definite plan."

Gas For This Section. "The biggest thing that could happen to this town," said Mr. Gex is "to put gas in." Even the small town of Lyman has it. Bay St. Louis needs it more than any other town. We have no other fuel here, our wood

MAYOR SPENCE AT PASS CHRISTIAN CORDIALLY WELCOMES THE PRESS

Says Many Visitors Come Within Their Gates But None More Welcome Than The Press—Says Town Has Lowest Assessment and Tax Rate In State.

WAVELAND P.-T. A. IS ACTIVE

Five New Members Added; Preparing for Christmas Program for Flag Raising.

Waveland's P.-T. A. held its regular monthly meeting Wednesday afternoon, November 5, with Mrs. A. F. Fournier, president, present and who came out from New Orleans for the occasion. Names of five new members were added to the roll.

At this meeting was decided the King's Daughters would present the benefit flag given at Bay St. Louis last week in Waveland for benefit of the association. The entertainment would include Miss Ruth Ward's dance revue.

An interesting announcement was to the effect the P.-T. A. would also sponsor a Christmas Tree entertainment for the school children, and much enthusiasm was manifested.

Miss Edsberg, from the Siler Book Store, was present and told the children a number of stories. She came with quite a collection of books which were given to the school library, generous gifts from Mr. and Mrs. S. D. Siler.

It was announced the rest room at the school is about ready for occupancy, with quite a number of valuable articles donated, thus making for a complete equipment. One contribution especially noted, is a gift of a lavatory by Mrs. L. H. Fairchild.

The Waveland P.-T. A. is growing rapidly as a result of a general manifestation of interest.

The following program is for the flag raising on the school grounds, which will take place on Armistice Day.

Song, America. Invocation—Reading Original Poem. Declaration. Address by Speaker of the Day. Flag Raising. Song, "The Star Spangled Banner." Flag Salute. Benediction. This program is sponsored by the Waveland P.-T. A.

has all been cut out, and what fuel we get comes from away from here. If this Chamber of Commerce was to take an inventory of the houses here, and make out a list of the people who will pledge themselves to take gas if it came here, and would go over to the Insull crowd, who own the present plant at Gulfport and along this coast, and say "Here's the number of people who will take your gas, if you will come over here you can get a franchise." As to the cost of gas that ought to be left to the Board of Mayor and Commissioners, who will say to the mth that they might have the franchise at a reasonable return on their money.

Pine Hills A Big Asset. "We have over to the East," continued Mr. Gex, a three-million dollar investment in the Pine Hills Hotel. There is not a chance on earth known to anybody, by which those people can get three million dollars out of that place. Now, if we could put that place in Bay St. Louis, and we could put it there by a bridge of one and one quarter miles. It may be that the present owners are not ready for that, but we certainly ought to go to them and say that the City of Bay St. Louis will help you and get the approaches built. The City will give you a short cut road which they will either pave, or a good road, to the depot, by which you will only be four miles from the depot. Now, you are eleven miles from anywhere.

Committee to Go After Bridge.

Outlining the suggestion that various committees should be formed and go after these things, Mr. Gex suggested the Chamber of Commerce should have a committee, "to see to it that we have a bridge, and if you are not ready to build that bridge, which is the only feasible way to put the Hotel in Bay St. Louis, when you are we will give you our cooperation, and will do what I have suggested heretofore. True, we won't get to assess that property, but everybody will come to Bay St. Louis to spend their money, and we must bring money here. We can't bring it through smoke stacks, we have nothing to manufacture. We have sunshine, climatic conditions, and probably the most beautiful place in the world to live in."

Welcoming members of the Mississippi Coast Press Club at their monthly supper-meeting at the Miramar Hotel, at Pass Christian, Monday evening, Mayor Jas. H. Spence voiced cordial sentiment. "Gentlemen of the press," he said, "it is always a pleasure to have you within our gates and I am pleased, indeed, to be numbered with your number tonight, along with the members of Pass Christian town council. The regret is, that we cannot remain with you the entire evening and share with you at the festive and good things that have been prepared and to further join in your discourses at which I join both wit and wisdom will flow."

"Pass Christian has ever been a place of rendezvous. People from all parts of the world have visited with us and the best attestation of their satisfaction is that a first visit is always followed by others. This is not your first visit, by no means, neither will it be your last. Pass Christian has an especial appeal and lure to all who visit. Of the many visitors of the past, distinguished, illustrious, there has been none more outstanding, more welcome than you gentlemen of the Gulf Coast Press, men with vision, men who mould public opinion, men who season in and season out ever proclaim to the world the marvelous beauty and incomparable elements that go to make this section the best place in the world in which to live."

"Gentlemen, in behalf of the people of Pass Christian, and my official associates, I welcome you to our midst."

Mayor Spence, members of the town council and others were invited to a gathering lasting an hour preceding the supper and at which both officials and coast publishers became better acquainted and fraternized until the mayor said it was time to call the roll for a special meeting of the council, that night to again reduce the assessment and cut the levy. The Mayor, before leaving, saying in parenthesis, that Pass Christian had the lowest assessment and millage of any town or city in the State.

The press meeting and supper was another successful business meeting of the Mississippi Gulf Coast publishers and printers who had banded in association to meet once a month, at least, to discuss various problems and to further help the development of the coast. The newspaper and printer folks have long ago realized that they, by pen and press, can help appreciably to further advance every interest of this section, both to their own account and to those who would seek to come here, either for health, pleasure, recreation or business pursuit. No section in the land offers more to the outsider than this.

It was recalled that the next meeting, to be held at Gulfport, will conclude the first year of the organization's activities and a general summary proved that the effort to ameliorate has not been in vain. It was recalled that the first meeting had been called at Gulfport last January by Clayton Rand and Ralph Brash, and that the honor of office was divided between Gulfport and Bay St. Louis.

Among those present at the Miramar Monday even were members of Pass Christian city council, which included Mayor Jas. H. Spence, Leo McDermott, tax-collector; James Smith, Donald D. Metts, Eugene Pelata and Herbert Hanson, Aldermen; Adolph Pouyadon, chief of police; Publishers and printers included J. H. Sparkman, Jr., Pascagoula Chronicle-Star; Eugene Willis, publisher Bixlo-Gulfport Herald; Ed Lipscomb, Mississippi Guide; Ralph Brash, Gulfport Printing Company; Chas. Moreau, L. S. Elliott and Jno. Dambrino, Sea Coast Echo, Bay St. Louis, and Ray McKay, publisher The Tarpon, of Pass Christian, who acted as host for the occasion. Lt. Gov. Bidwell Adam sent his regrets not being able to be present, a previous engagement precluding his attending.

Members of King's Sons And Daughters of Bay City Are Thankful

Members of Bay St. Louis branch of King's Sons and Daughters are grateful for the support given the benefit entertainment last Thursday evening at Bay High School auditorium and to those who participated in the performance and to all who assisted.

The total net amount realized will reach slightly over one hundred dollars and will assist the hospital materially. Mrs. Boudin won the cake, given by Mrs. W. L. Bourgeois, which realized the sum of $15.30.

The entertainment was of high character and well carried out and made for an interesting and varied program.

Mrs. Fournier, president of the organization, expresses herself along with other officers and members, as not only grateful for the result, but satisfied with both effort and result.

ARMISTICE DAY IN HANCOCK CO.

ARMISTICE DAY on Tuesday next, the memorable November 11, will be observed throughout the nation with more or less solemnity and eclat, fittingly and as it should be.

In Bay St. Louis, for Hancock county, the local Post of American Legion, Clement R. Bon Temps, No. 139, will commemorate the day with a program that has been outlined in the news columns of The Echo, beginning during morning hours and after the sun shall have set and the day is done, numbered with those of the past and that again due honor has been paid the memory of the departed heroes, there will be a gathering at one of the local places of assembly and the victory of the war, its significance to the living, will be celebrated with a reception and ball.

The day is to be observed as a holiday and it behooves Bay St. Louis to show the tri-color from every place of business and residence, to display in color, at least our patriotism and appreciation of the significance of the day and of those who made it possible.

RUNNING TRUE TO FORM.

The refusal of President Critz of Mississippi's A. & M. College to sign a salary check for a recently appointed instructor who had never performed a day's service at the college, was absolutely right. The party in whose favor the check was drawn was one O. W. Bobo, appointed by the Bilbo-controlled board of trustees and was for $416.16.

President Critz by this act is "running true to form" and is further evidence of his higher character and honesty.

WHAT HE DESERVES.

After dodging detectives for nearly four months, Edward H. Jackson, Laurel's defaulting bank cashier, has been arrested and by this time is behind the bars of the jail at Meridian. He was apprehended in Los Angeles last week where he was recognized by an auto salesman who had seen one of the circulars sent out by a detective bureau and which bore his picture. Of the $72,000 he embezzled only a small part of it was found in a safety deposit vault in the California city. His conviction and sentence to a long prison term is sure and certain.

NO SYMPATHY DUE.

Bishop James Cannon, Jr., who has been in the lime light for the past year or more, due to his stock market gambling in Wall Street, is now in a Washington hospital undergoing treatment for an acute attack of neuritis and inflammatory arthritis. His physicians have expressed the opinion that his ailment has been brought on in a large measure by the publicity given him in connection with his activities in the stock market. That's about the last place in the world a good Methodist bishop should have ventured, hence no sympathy can be expressed for him.

GIVE GAME A CHANCE.

Up in Pearl River county game is being hunted with spot lights, and the practice does not meet with approval of farmers and land owners who have sheep, cattle and other stock. A recent issue of the Picayune Item carried a very strong editorial condemning hunters who have been guilty of using such lights, and intimates that prosecution is likely to be instituted against those who have been or may be caught using such means to kill game.

DON'T BLAME YOURSELF.

One of our State exchanges very truly says: "When citizens of a town or county wait until political affairs are rotten before taking a stand, they only have themselves to blame." It has been our observation that the most belly-aching done about the rottenness of political affairs is done by people who never lift their voices or doing anything about bettering political conditions.

A COMMENDABLE IDEA.

In a recent address President Hoover said that "as a nation we must prevent hunger and cold to those of our people who are in honest difficulties." A very commendable idea, but would there have been very many "people in honest difficulties" had Mr. Hoover's administration carried out the promises made by his party prior to his election? We do not believe so.

AS IT SHOULD BE.

According to statistics given out by the census bureau, Mississippi leads all the States in the Union in its per centage of school attendance, 83.4 per cent of educable children between the ages of 5 and 17 years being enrolled. North Carolina holds second place with an enrollment of 29 per cent of its total population.

A FAVORED WAR.

The people of Picayune are paying only 17 cents per gallon for gasoline, the result of a price cutting war between rival stations. It is also claimed that so much gas was being bootlegged from New Orleans stations also contributed to the lowering of prices.

THE "BUY AT HOME" CAMPAIGN.

BAY ST. LOUIS CHAMBER of Commerce will on Wednesday night of next week sponsor a supper-conference of business men and women of the city with a specific view of launching the buy-at-home idea into a something more tangible, more resultant than merely the sound of the somewhat empty phrase.

It has been pointed out that people are willing to buy at home, all things being equal. No sane person is going to pay more for an article and everything else simply to follow a slogan and at the expense of economic principle.

But we are told, and the subject illustrated by example, that in many instances Bay St. Louis merchants have better merchandise and sell at prices less than in New Orleans or elsewhere by virtue of the reason the local merchant has less overhead expense and in numerous ways can best his out-of-town competitor to advantage.

However, New Orleans newspapers, that daily flood this city and section carry advertisements of merchants, describing goods in extenso and each carrying price, while the Bay St. Louis merchants, with exception, and other store-keepers hide the fact that they sell better goods at better prices.

The Gulfport press, too, comes to Bay St. Louis daily, with large ads describing goods and prices, and Gulfport gets a share of the trade. While the Bay St. Louis newspaper, regardless of the fact its advertising rate is the lowest in the State, circulation compared, carries nothing. But does the general public know?

Are they too modest to advertise and tell the world?

IT WILL NEVER COME TO PASS.

During recent years there has been a consolidation of counties in North Carolina and other States and there is some sentiment in Mississippi favoring the same idea, but The Echo has grave doubt that it will ever be adopted here.

It may be, and doubtless it is true, that the cost of county government could be considerably lessened were the number of Mississippi counties cut down, say one half, that instead of the 82 that we have, only 41 counties, but when the effort is made to do that formidable and stern opposition would come from every man and woman presently holding a county job, and just how strong that opposition would be it is readily seen. Therefore it seems to us that only defeat is in store for the proponents of the consolidation idea. Nevertheless there is plenty of merit in the idea, both from the point of economy and the belief that by consolidation better qualified officials would be chosen to discharge the public business, in both of which the people—the taxpayers are vitally interested.

The Hattiesburg American, concludes a very able editorial in a recent issue in this wise:

Tax levies and assessments are problems worthy of grave consideration, but we have an idea that they would be largely cleared up if modern business principles and economies were applied to the expenditure of the tax dollar.

ONLY A FEW LEFT.

Only seven members of the constitutional convention of 1890 are still living, and owing to physical inability only one of the survivors attended the annual reunion held in Jackson Saturday last, the guest of Mr. Monroe Bailey of Lauderdale county at a luncheon. Hon. Edgar S. Wilson, who served as secretary of the convention was also a guest. Hon. Will T. McDonald, honored and beloved by all who know him; and for years a leader of the Gulf Coast bar, but now a resident of Memphis, is one of the seven survivors of that great body of patriotic men that gave to Mississippi its great constitution. He was also the youngest member of the convention.

NEEDED CO-OPERATION.

From now on extra care must be taken to prevent fires starting in the woods. While many fires are started maliciously, the vast majority of them result from carelessness on the part of campers and hunters. It would be impossible to estimate the loss and damage done by woods fires in this State each year, and it will only be through eternal vigilance exercised by not only by those charged with the duty of "spotting" fires but every individual citizen should lend his cooperation in saving from destruction of young timber and the robbing of the soil of natural fertilization which comes from decaying leaves and grasses.

SHOULD BE CHANGED.

The amendment to the federal constitution suggested by Senator Norris of Nebraska should have the united support of both Republican and Democratic members of congress. His proposal is to change the date when members of congress should take their seats. Members elected last Tuesday are not sworn in until December, 1931—thirteen months after their election—which is altogether too long for them to wait before assuming their seats. Issues upon which they waged their campaigns may be forgotten by the time they get to Washington and the condition of national affairs may have changed for better or worse ere they have had an opportunity to take part in legislation. Coming fresh from the people they are keenly alive to the sentiment and wishes of their constituents and therefore have first hand knowledge of what legislation is needed and should be enacted by Congress.

ECHO HAZARDS A GUESS.

It was a busy day last Sunday for the sheriff of Jones county and his deputies. The two moving picture theaters of Laurel attempted to do business as on other days and it was then that the sheriff and his deputies began arresting the projection operators. As fast as one operator was put under arrest another operator was secured and in all nearly a dozen men and boys were arrested and required to give bond for violation of the Sunday law. The fight is on to a finish, but The Echo is willing to hazard a guess that none of those arrested will ever be convicted in their cases are carried to the higher courts.

LOCAL SIDELIGHTS

CALIFORNIA DOES NOT GROW ALL THE MUMS.

Noted at the cemeteries on All Saints' Day were an unusually supply of beautiful chrysanthemums, large and small, some of which won the admiration at sight of all who saw them. How well these are grown and developed well manifests the science of man who, by constant care, pruning and with every solicitation has arrived to such result.

California is the "mum" grower in the United States, and the Japanese excel others in the art of growing flowers. However, said all of the "mums" now do not come from the Golden State. Other climates and other hands and minds are turning the trick to same success.

A THOUGHTFUL AND GENEROUS GESTURE.

Every member of the Rotary Club of Bay St. Louis has been invited to attend the sessions of bankers in Bay St. Louis today, under the auspices of bankers known as Group B, which will be held during the morning hours at the A. & C. Theater and also to the luncheon to be held at Hotel Weston at 1 o'clock sharp.

This generous invitation came Wednesday from Messrs. Rea and Seal, local bankers, who will be hosts to the bankers while here in session. An acceptance was indicated by all present. In addition to the luncheon there will be a program.

JUSTICE TO WHOM JUSTICE IS DUE.

Writing under a misapprehension, the paragraph in this column last week referring to the apparent indifference of J. M. Thames, State Highway Commissioner, in response to letters and telegrams that had been sent him by the local Chamber of Commerce, proves to have been an injustice to Mr. Thames, as he did not receive the messages referred to. The one he did reply to was the only one which reached him. Mr. Thames is vitally interested in the projected short-cut roads from New Orleans to the Gulf Coast and was here last Saturday. He plans to return later in company with the other two commissioners. The Echo would never do anyone an injustice or knowingly make false statement or misrepresentation, and we hasten to correct the unjust impression we might have caused by the article in question. Of course, Mr. Thames is too big a man to harbor any ill feeling on this account, especially after the matter is explained.

STANISLAUS AT BILOXI THIS FRIDAY NIGHT.

Scores of admirers of the Rock-A-Chaws' St. Stanislaus football eleven, will journey to Biloxi this Friday night to witness the contest between the Rocks and Biloxi Hi warriors. This game is a companion to the one played at Gulfport last week, that is, as much interest and eagerness is manifested in anticipation, and great crowds will greet the two teams in combat. Interest is great since the Rocks defeated the Gulfport team in a local rivalry is always keenest and interest larger numbers. It is hoped many Bay St. Louisians will be able to journey over to the Peninsular City, as already indicated, and that they will cheer our college boys on to victory.

DOTS AND DASHES FROM HERE, THERE AND EVERYWHERE.

Someone asked, how did you like the film Amos 'n' Andy. The reply: If you like Amos 'n' Andy the picture is 100 per cent. . . . Rotarians at Ocean Springs celebrated All Hallows' even with a special program at the French Hotel. Al Wilke, who used to live in Union street as a lad in a cottage next to the Answer annex, is now a full-fledged publisher at Coolidge, Arizona—and Al's made good. . . . Another filling station on the Coast, on eof legions, is the Texaco at Ocean Springs. Looks like a million dollar house on fire. . . . More chrysanthemums and dahlias grown in back yards hereabouts this All Saints' than ever. One woman sold over two hundred dollars of flowers and pays her taxes with change left. Formerly the "pecan" cake raised the tax. Cement hard-surfacing around L. & N. depot is paid for with money left over from that originally appropriated for the depot building. . . . The S. P.'s twelve-million dollar bridge near San Francisco dispels the apprehension the bus is going to rut the railroads for de combat. . . . One of Alabama's finest theater buildings is at Dothan and is principally owned by a Bay St. Louis resident. . . . People who build their tomb before passing away have a horror of being buried in the ground. . . . Robert L. Gennin, son of Watson, has abandoned fishing for golf; shoots a little above hundred. . . . Val Yates shot 54 holes at Pine Hills Saturday and broke all local endurance tests. . . . C. C. McDonald has a perfect Rotary attendance for over two years. . . . Less vacant stores and shops are noted in Biloxi and Gulfport. . . . Another sign of approaching of immediate return of prosperity is Gulfport's best theater building being rebuilt and remodeled. . . . Rev. R. J. Sorin's church of Our Lady of Good Hope at De Lisle is to be painted. . . . St. Stanislaus College plans to complete the quadrangle of its buildings with another structure within two years, patterned after the one dedicated Sunday. . . . In a clean sweep of the personnel of the management of Motel Markham, Mrs. Marion McGuire, hostess, is the only "surviving member."

A BITE.

A keen angler took a friend for a day's sport. The friend knew nothing of fishing, but decided to try his luck. After a long silence by the banks of a stream the novice said, "I say, how much do those little red things cost?" "Toward the flats? Oh, they're cheap. Why?" "I've got you for one. Mine's just mine." "Toward the flats?"

VIEWS OF OUR NEWS
By Chicagoan

Chicago, Ill., November 4.—Election Day! Of course, Mississippi folks are not so excited about this election. According to last week's Echo, about the most important proposition before the voters is an amendment allowing the leasing of school lands. In Illinois, it is quite different. The city of Chicago is in turmoil, and excitement is at fever pitch in the downstate counties, as well. In a few moments, I'm going to exercise the high privilege of American citizenship, in the hope that my ballot will determine, in a measure, the course to be taken by my state and nation. I'll let you guess as to whether I voted for Mrs. McCormick or Col. Lewis, but I will say that I'm going to vote my convictions, and that I hope you've done the same.

How many noticed the mixed tenses in the last sentence? Well, if you grammarians wish to learn how a person gets that way, just try writing an article on an exciting election day, when you know the votes will be counted, the results published, and even the last shout of the celebrants drowned in the noise of industry, before your effort appears in print. Then, you'll understand the mixed tenses, and you may form an opinion as to my mixed senses, as well.

I'm going to make one prediction on the election results. The heaviest vote polled in the entire United States, went to the perennial candidate, Iwanna R. Prosperous, who was running on all tickets, between the lines, of course, I hope he will not be counted out of his victory, and that he will shortly displace old Gen. De Pression, whom we all agree has been in the saddle quite long enough.

Our society informs us in last week's Echo that Mr. and Mrs. Lucien Marion Gex did not wait until November 4th to vote a straight matrimonial ticket. Permit me to join the friends of this happy pair in wishing much success to the new administration. May it be of long duration, producing prosperity, much joy and no regrets.

I am presuming that every Echo reader perused with much enjoyment the article by John H. Meyers, describing conditions existing along the Rio Grande. Mr. Meyers gave us a graphic account of an evening on the river that divides two great republics, and he concludes his article with a sentence that should burn itself into the minds of all Americans. Because it is so worthy, I'm repeating his parting thought here: "And there will always be those who are willing to take the risks that smuggling involves so long as the profits are large."

Think! Isn't that the reason for violation of the prohibition laws? Men have been known to defy the death-decrees of Nature in the Klondike, the Congo and elsewhere, in their quest for gold. It is too much to expect that all will obey the laws of man (regardless of the penalty inflicted for their violation) when gold is the reward for ignoring them. So long as people persist in buying intoxicants at prices that pay huge profits to dealers, or until the government decides to provide liquor below the cost at which dealers can operate, bootlegging and smuggling will continue.

A South Mississippi banker has embezzled $75,000 of poor people's money, and Editor Moreau opines that for half that amount he can convince the courts that he is innocent. Let him sell out $100 worth of liquor, and he will be elected to a term in an institution in which the salary is small, but the tenure of office very secure.

THE MODERN MOTHER

By JOHN MEYERS

Modern times, fashions and fads have brought about a change in the outward appearance of today's mothers from the picture they presented in the golden yesterday glorified as "the grandma was a girl."

The 1930 mother, with her artificial permanent wave, rouged lips, modish styles and modernistic outlook on life, may differ somewhat in appearance from her predecessors, who inspired many songs and poems commemorating the sacredness of motherhood, but within, her maternal instincts have remained unchanged by modern influences.

To come upon a young mother of today in an unsuspecting moment, as she croons an old-time lullaby while nursing her infant, any concern that one might harbor for fear that the coming generation will suffer because of maternal indifference will soon be dispelled.

One need only to pause and harken while the soothing strains of "Sleep Baby Sleep" is being sung by this modern mother, as she rocks her precious blanketed bundle to and fro, listening as one vessel in music may say that the tune is terribly distasteful. . . . but if a person attempts to interpret the depth of mother love manifest in her song, it will vividly reveal the same quiver of emotional tenderness—the same smoldering fire of duty's urge, and sense of protection that has filled the hearts of mothers throughout the ages that have gone before.

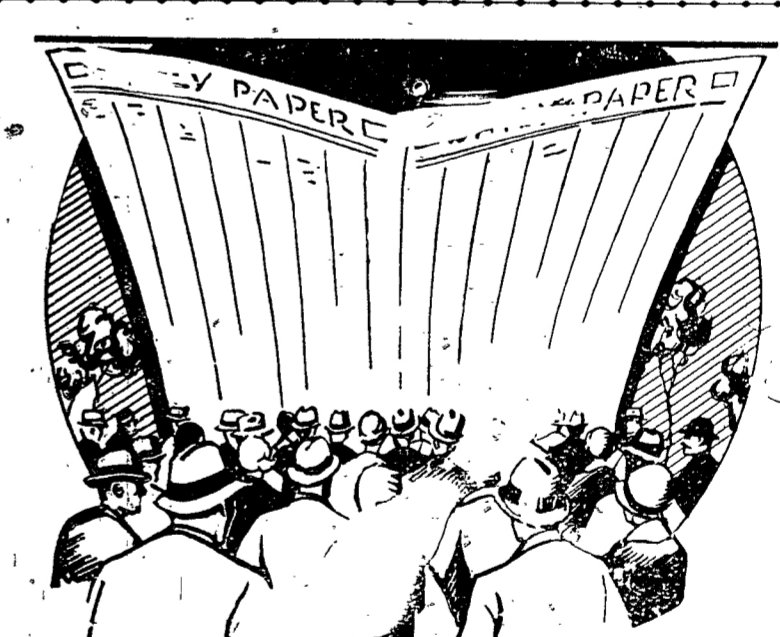

Lest We Forget---

"In Flanders fields the poppies grow,
Amidst the crosses, row on row . . ."

ALTHOUGH a thousand weary miles of ocean lie between us and the graves of those who gave their lives in 1917 and 1918 . . . and although the years be long since their sacrifice was new . . . we have not forgotten. Nor have we forgotten the sacrifice made by those who were spared us and who live today. Armistice Day is their day . . . and we join the world in paying homage to our heroes.

All departments of the bank will be closed the entire day, Tuesday, November 11th.

LANDMARK AT OCEAN SPRINGS WIPED OUT BY FIRE AT NOON DAY HOUR

Mansion Built More Than Half Century Ago, Belonging to Maginnis Interest At New Orleans for Years, Reduced to Ashes.

The old Maginnis mansion located on the Ocean Springs beach and built more than fifty years ago by A. A. Maginnis, founder of the New Orleans wholesale concern of Schmidt & Maginnis, was totally destroyed by fire Saturday about noon, reports the Ocean Springs Jackson Co. Times. The origin of the fire is believed to have been an overheated flue. The house has been vacant for years except for a caretaker who occupied a part of the building. The fire company was called out and went to the scene of the fire, but it had already gained considerable headway.

The property is owned by F. B. Thomas of Winnetka, Ill., who purchased it about four years ago. Since the completion of the seawall, Mr. Thomas has improved the front by filling in and sloping the land down to meet the beach drive. He had also contemplated remodeling the mansion but had done nothing along that line.

In the early days the Maginnis estate was the gathering place for the socially elite of New Orleans. Each summer found scores of young people who were friends of the Maginnis family, enjoying their lavish hospitality. After the death of the senior members of the Maginnis family and their neighbors, Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Schmidt, the young members of the Maginnis family abandoned the old home, but never sold it until four or five years ago, when it was purchased by Mr. Thomas.

It is one of the finest properties in Ocean Springs, with a beach frontage of several hundred feet and contains twenty-five or thirty acres.

LIEU LAND LAW REPORTED TO BE SAME AS RESULT

Of Tuesday's Election on Constitutional Amendment—Voters Reject Proposition.

The Associated Press at Jackson, Wednesday reported that the defeat of the constitutional amendment regulating sale of the 16th section and lieu lands was apparent from scattered returns in Tuesday's election in which congressional candidates returned to office without opposition. W. F. Bond, state superintendent of education, stated he had received information indicating defeat of the land amendment by a two to one vote with the Gulf Coast the only section favoring ratification.

Under the amendment lease of 16th lands would have been 99 years instead of 15 for farm lands, and 25 years for city lands. Lieu lands would be sold under the proposed amendment, value of 38,000 acres of lieu lands in Hancock and Pearl River counties would have been authorized. The lands represent grants from the government to the state in lieu of 16th section school lands which in some cases were not set aside when cities or towns were laid out.

SPORTS AT STANISLAUS

The Rock-A-Chaws added another victory to their list, bringing the total to four, when they romped over the St. Aloysius Panthers by a 28-0 count. The day was set aside as "Homecoming" for the Dads and Grads and the Rock-A-Chaws made it more pleasant to them by showing that Stanislaus was still putting out the same fighting teams now that it did in former days.

The contest was a one-sided affair from the start, with the Rock-A-Chaws on top. Aloysius kept their fighting up, trying to stand their ground, but the Rocks made them realize that they were going back, back, and back until the Rock-A-Chaws would gain those 6 or 7 points and then they would start all over again.

The first period ended with the score 15-0 against the Panthers; the second with the score 28-0 in Stanislaus favor; the third and fourth quarters were scoreless.

The St. Aloysius Panthers were accompanied by some two hundred backers, all with the conviction that victory was to be theirs, but the Rocks sent them back home sadly disappointed.

The Rocks are making a better showing this year than ever before. The 1930 Rocks are out to spread the name of Stanislaus all over the Sunbelt. They are training hard for the Bi-Centennial Friday night. All loyal Stanislaus backers should be there to witness a thrilling game, full of action from start to finish, which we hope will end in the Rocks' fifth victory this season.

Bi-Centennial! Come one, come all, and watch the Rocks rock Bi-Centennial!

ESTEEMED CITIZEN OF BAY ST. LOUIS GOES TO REWARD

Raphael Ruisech, Scion of Bay Family, Dies in New Orleans—Last of Family Names.

Widespread regret has been occasioned by the death, which took place in New Orleans on October 31st, of Mr. Raphael Ruisech, who was well and favorably known not only in our city, but throughout the country. The deceased gentleman, who was greatly esteemed by the people, was a member of a most respected family. He was 75 years old. He is survived by many nieces and nephews here and elsewhere—the outstanding amongst them being Misses Katherine and Alvina Hoffman and Mr. George W. Hoffman with whom he lived and to whom we tender our deepest sympathy. The latter cared for him with a devoted attention at all times, but especially during the closing years of his life, aided by very capable medicine practitioners, they did all that was humanly possible to stay the final call.

Ralph, as he was familiarly known, was always cheerful and happy, with a smile or a joke for the younger, and a pleasant word for the older. He did not know how to speak evil or bear ill-feeling, but with a generous heart he lived the life of a devout Christian noted for his liberality to the church and marked consideration for the poor.

Besides taking a leading and prominent part in political circles, he was for years deputy sheriff and deputy marshal, during which time he gave eminent satisfaction in the faithful discharge of duty. He stood high in the estimation of the people, who heard with a pang of regret of his passing away and who by their large and representative numbers at his funeral cortege manifested a tribute that was well deserved—a tribute to the excellent qualities which undoubtedly were his.

Funeral services, with Rev. Father McAlpine, officiating were held from Our Lady of the Gulf Church to St. Mary's cemetery. The Rev. Father O'Connell, Diocesan Director of the Propagation of the Faith and a personal friend of the family came from Jackson to be present at the obsequies. May he sleep the sleep of peace in that hallowed cemetery—the mould of priest, sister and citizen.

SENATOR HARRISON SAYS ELECTION IS REBUKE TO HOOVER

Campaign Pledges Violated Cause of Upheaval—Presage Victory for Democrats 1932.

Washington, Nov. 5.—Senator Pat Harrison, Mississippi, said today: "Without doubt in certain states the prohibition question played an important part in yesterday's Democratic landslide but taken as a whole it was a nationwide rebuke to the Hoover administration for the flagrant violations of campaign pledges. It clearly shows the peoples' disapproval of the Hoover farm relief policies as well as the enactment of the Hoover-Grundy tariff law. It presages a sweeping Democratic victory in 1932."

SHERIFF'S SALE

Cause No. 3236 THE STATE OF MISSISSIPPI, HANCOCK COUNTY, MORRIS PLAN BANK vs. GEORGE L. DUCROS.

A sale for satisfaction of judgment of $483.00 with interest at the rate of 6 per cent per annum from January 15th, 1930, until paid, costs of $27.80, and costs to accrue under this execution.

By virtue of an execution directed to me by A. G. Pavre, Clerk of the Circuit Court of Hancock County, Mississippi, I will on MONDAY, 1ST DAY OF DECEMBER, 1930, in front of the front door of the Courthouse of said County, in the City of Bay St. Louis, Mississippi, within the hours prescribed by law, expose for sale and sell at public outcry to the highest bidder for cash, all the right, interest and claim, which the defendant, George L. Ducros has in and to the following described property situated in the County of Hancock, State of Mississippi, to-wit:

A certain tract of land known as Baldwin Lodge, bounded on the North by the L. & N. Railroad, on the South by a bayou, on the West by Pearl River, on the East by the property known as the Samuel White Land Claim, together with all the buildings and improvements thereon and the appurtenances thereto, including or in any wise appertaining. The eastern end of said land or boundary being 350 feet in length, which has been levied on as the property of said George L. Ducros, and all his interest therein will be sold to satisfy said execution, together with all costs.

This is the 30th day of October, 1930. C. JONES, Sheriff.

WORK AND PLAY AT S. J. A.

A BIG WEEK-END.

This past week-end was most eventful for all of us but particularly for those who were in the country.

First of all was the Halloween party with its big share of fun and excitement. Then came the half holiday Friday afternoon which gave us the opportunity of visiting the country fair at Gulfport and which afforded us no end of thrills.

Then came Saturday afternoon when we enjoyed an unusually good picture during our weekly outing to the show. Sunday being Dad's Day at S. J. A. proved the climax of all—it would be rather difficult to say which we enjoyed the most, the lovely ceremony in the beautiful new S. J. A. chapel—the barbecue which followed, and which a few of us were lucky to attend, or the thrilling football game of the afternoon.

But at all events we can honestly say that the memories of these last few days shall linger in our minds and shall often be recalled as the happiest of our happy school days.

HALLOWE'EN PARTY.

Did we have fun at the Halloween party last Thursday?—Well the general comment was—"It was the best ever," and in view of the fun which previous Halloween parties at S. J. A. afforded—it is hardly necessary to add any more.

The yard adjoining the basketball court was completely transformed by cleverly arranged yellow and black streamers and Jack-O-Lanterns and pumpkins, into a veritable Halloween bower. The table fairly creaked under its load of hats, favors, noise-makers, and candy. The bon-fire proved glorious and we toasted marshmallows and roasted weiners to our heart's content. While the corn which we popped in the dying embers of the bon fire proved the treat of the evening. And here we wish to thank Miss Ames who so generously provided us with the corn which we used that evening.

The games were more fun than we can say and when the last one was over and "Home Sweet Home" was played we departed feeling that we had attended one of the loveliest parties we had ever attended.

So here's three cheers for Class '31 and Miss Stella Kenney to whom we are indebted for this most enjoyable evening.

JUNIOR PINS ARE HERE AT LAST

At last we juniors anticipate no longer, our dreams have come true—our cherished pins have arrived and are we satisfied? Well we believe that this is one of the few cases wherein realization far surpasses anticipation—Class '32 is thrilled beyond words and besides we are quite sure that ours are the best-looking pins ever seen at S. J. A.

We are exceedingly lucky to have received our pins before Dad's Day, there were so many people to show them to then and we really felt sorry for the Seniors who were keenly disappointed Sunday because their rings had not arrived.

GYM NEARING COMPLETION.

We can hardly believe it—but here it stands before our eager eyes—its exterior completely finished. The carpenters are busily at work on the inside, the walls of the rooms are up—and the plasterers have begun their part of the job. We are always glad when the first of a new month comes along. In the first place—the last days of the month are always rather hectic—What with tests every second day and themes and exercises to be made up—we scarcely have time to breathe. Then there is the distribution of reports before the semester ends, and the body which proves a joy to some and an ordeal to others—depending upon whether we came out at the head or the foot of our classes.

Honors for October follow: Seniors—1st. Cora Sudkamp; 2nd Eleanor Attaway.

Juniors—2nd. Elise Lizana, Frances Vincent.

Sophomores—1st. Evelyn Nix; 2nd Ruth Taber.

Freshmen—2nd. Alice Camors.

Eighth Grade—1st. Lorraine Quintini; 2nd. Anna Mae Quintini.

Seventh Grade—1st. Nina Benedict; 2nd. Eva Zengeringer.

Sixth Grade—1st. Marjory Suzenau; 2nd. Mary Benigno.

Fifth Grade—1st. Eunice Fayard; 2nd. Elsie Carver.

Fourth Grade—1st. Betty Roy; 2nd. Frances Schindler.

Third Grade—1st. Dot Hammer; Joyce Becker; 2nd. Lucilla Ryan.

Second Grade—1st. Eugene McGrath; 2nd. Russell Elliott.

STANISLAUS COLLEGE ECHOES

THE STAFF: S. Ballard, Henry Gasque, F. Johnson, R. Camors, A. Purple, S. Arbour.

DOWN BILOXI!

Friday night, November 7, 1930 Stanislaus College meets Bi-Loxi in Bi-Loxi for the best game in the State this year. Bi-Loxi has a strong team right and left, but the Rocks have met four and downed four and are ready for the Indians. Aloysius came over Sunday with a team that outweighed us and plenty of rosters out, our rooting club put the damper on their yelling and our team sent them home burning under a 28-0 defeat. Now fellows Bi-Loxi says she is going to whip us. What do you say to that? Well, the game has to be played yet and then we'll see who does the shouting. Come on fellows show 'em what you can do. Smash those Indians and keep old S. J. A. out on top again in rooting and in playing! The Rocks must go through another undefeated season.

DOWN BILOXI!—HOME-COMING DAY.

Dad's Day and Home-Coming Day at the college last Sunday was a complete success. From the roasting of the barbecue to the last minute of the football game, our last event on the program, success obtained throughout. We sent in our application to the Weather Bureau for a perfect day, and after some red tape concerning temperature, we got it. Dad's and graduates arrived on the excursion, greeted by their sons and friends respectively at the station, accompanied by the sounding of the brass and tinkle of the cymbals of our band. At nine thirty the campus was warming with crowds of happy Dads and Mothers and old Graduates and students, and teachers and self-assertive Aloysius men.

At eleven o'clock His Grace, Bishop Gerow, solemnly consecrated the new building which was followed by Holy Mass celebrated by Father Fahey in the chapel. The chrononies were over shortly. At twelve o'clock the barbecue was served in the yard beside the new building. The four long tables loaded with viands, would have inspired Irving to write one of his famous culinary descriptions, but for the rest of us lacking genius were content to give full rein to our appetite.

Half past two saw the Green Choked-full of rosters, automobiles, and the spirit that make football what it is. As we have already said, the weather was made to order, especially for football. The game? That looked as if it had been made to order too, for each player on the team worked in cooperation, with the other, and plays were made; in clock-like precision, that verily the thing looked rehearsed. We piled the score up to twenty-eight above sea level in the first half. Aloysius was 'down at sea level; they stayed down all during the second half too. After the victory the boys escorted the visitors to the railroad station. Brother Peter expressed his deep satisfaction to us after supper by granting us the permission to go to the theater and so to bed. Dad's Day and Home-Coming Day was the best of all since the first in 1924.

THE CLASS RINGS AND PINS.

A man walked down the street with his coat flapping open, exposing his vest to the vicissitudes of the chilly breath of November. He approached another man and both shook hands with their left hand. Don't mind that, they're only seniors, trying to "show" their new rings and pins, and succeeding very well. The rings and pins arrived Saturday morning by express, and in a few minutes after the arrival the news had circulated like one hundred and twenty volts of electricity through the ranks of the graduates. The latter didn't have long to wait, for each player on the team went to the office to get them. Both ring and pin follow the standard design which has already become so familiar to those of a feminine persuasion.

DOWN BILOXI!

The Stanislaus College Varsity football team, one of the best in the history of the college, emerged victorious in a conflict with St. Aloysius College of New Orleans on Homecoming Day before one of the largest crowds ever attending a football game at Stanislaus.

The team of this year has already defeated the best teams from Louisiana and has beaten Gulfport, one of the strongest teams along the coast. They journey to Bi-Loxi, Friday night to play the Bi-Loxi Indians, who have been getting ready for this game since the beginning of the season.

This game Friday night should be one of the best games ever played along the coast. Bi-Loxi having a good team and not yet defeated, will be fighting just as hard as the Rock-A-Chaws to keep their record clean. The student body of the college will accompany the team. They will

As you ramble along, following each lazy twist and turn of the path, new glories, new beauties of Autumn appear. Ever-changing hues in a riot of flaming colors meet your gaze on every side.

Then there are the clear still nights when you can see the harvest moon rise majestically and watch its fullness and beauty as it wends its way slowly across the great expanse of a star-studded sky.

As you lie in bed looking through the window on such a night, you see the moon through the branches of a graceful pine tree. How beautiful it all is! A few stars in the sky, a tiny cloud or two floating ever so lazily across the sky, and the soft murmuring pine, travel so delicately against the shining silver moon to present a beauty that seems to cast a spell over you. And with this vision of serene beauty still in your eyes you fall asleep and the bewitching beauties of Autumn and the song of the nightingale sweetly in your ears. Truly there is no season as beautiful as Autumn.

DOWN BILOXI!—GRAMMAR GRADE NOTES

EIGHTH GRADE. The eighth grade boys have started work toward a Palmer Method Diploma. The following boys are in this special Penmanship class: G. Boswell, W. Price, F. Ferchaud, G. Fore, P. Stakelum, C. Quintini, W. Smith, C. Garcia, M. Bertin, J. Grevenberg, W. Laless, J. Udco, A. Becker, H. Bopp, and W. App. They are in hopes that some of their Christmas presents to their parents will be this long looked for diploma. Home works look deserving praise in the eighth grade are owned by W. App, A. Becker, J. Grevenberg, C. Garcia, F. Ferchaud, M. Bertin, H. Bopp, W. Laless, P. Stakelum, C. Quintini, W. Price, and J. Harper. A reward for the best work will be given at the end of the term. Brother Peter was in to give an oral History test last week. Brother was taken away with the historians of the grade because he failed to give a question that was not answered.

A spelling bee will be on the program for Friday. We have 400 words to review for that day.

Robert Ganachau showed up well last week when he came out with an oral composition almost to perfection. He has been happy ever since.

DOWN BILOXI!—WE WONDER WHY?

Wilson was so affectionate the past week? Foster was sick Sunday? Garst is so sad? Le Borde made up? Breaux wanted a girl? B. J. was on top of the world Sunday?

Kornegay is missing lessons lately? C. P. Moore is blue? Johnson had a little bit of heaven Sunday; but it left too soon? Hayden is called Shorty? Jacobs is going to study pharmacy? Baquet is always singing Betty-Coed? Daigle said I'm just a boy friend? Garst wants a job in a hotel in Baton Rouge?

Wittmann is going to get a B. B. degree next year? Ferchaud is called the College Gangster? John James don't get any more fan mail?

What happened to Sam Ballard's class ring? Who gives Fred Adams the "Ants"? John Lilley is called ward boss? Texas was lucky?

PENNY PARTY NEXT THURSDAY AFTERNOON AT R. W. WEBB SCHOOL

The faculty of the R. W. Webb School announce a penny party on the school grounds for next Thursday afternoon, November 13, at 2 o'clock. Proceeds realized will be appropriated for the playground equipment fund. Children from over the city are cordially invited to attend, to spend a pleasant afternoon and by their mite help swell the fund.

CARD OF THANKS.

We wish to express, with sincere appreciation our unbounded thanks and heartfelt gratitude to each and every one who so kindly and so thoughtfully helped us in the sickness and subsequent death of our beloved uncle, the late Mr. Raphael Ruisech. We feel deeply indebted to all, but especially so to the Rev. Father George Kusselbacher, O. S. B., the Rev. Father O'Connell, the Rev. Father McAlpine, the Very Sisters of the Poor, the Sisters of St. Joseph and the Brothers of the Sacred Heart. Indeed, we shall not soon forget the valued assistance shown by all in our sad and bitter pain.

Believe us, CATHARINE ALVINA and GEORGE HOFFMANN.

TRIP THROUGH PART OF HANCOCK AND PEARL RIVER COUNTIES TELLS

Of Industry—Buildings and More and Better—County Roads Best in the Land—Poultry Raising Attracts Attention—Picaune.

ONE DOUBTS the country roads of Hancock county are not in excellent condition, let him motor out the Bay-Kiln Road and passing Bayou Talla intersection drive over the long and beautiful stretch leading to Letchworth and Caesar and the uncertainty will soon be dispelled. This time of the year, at the harvest season, fields and gardens are golden and add to the pleasure of the trip. It is noted along the road to Letchworth, from the starting point near Kiln, there has been a number of improvements, several new farmhouses, school houses and other evidence bear witness to the fact that Hancock county's rural section is going forward rather than backward. It was predicted with the passing away of standing timber there would be little or nothing left to attract and eventually the population even though sparsely settled in spots, would dwindle away. That in place of where homesteads and farms dotted the land, abandoned places would follow as a sequel. But such is the case. There are better homes, are planting more feed stuff and largely turning to the raising of poultry. Especially does this apply to Letchworth and vicinity.

Formerly the rule, was a few chickens of desultory breeding, if any, allowed to run at will and roost where night fell. Evidently the dog ate the eggs. Then again an old hen would appear from some unknown place, with a flock of biddies that were weeklings or half run to death.

Poultry Raising Section of Hancock. But this has changed. The Letchworth section is the poultry raising section of Hancock county. The hit and miss methods of other days has been changed for scientific breeding and the hen has become an important factor in producing for the farmer. It might not be generally known but the bulk of fresh eggs sold in Bay St. Louis come from Letchworth and Caesar vicinity.

John Rester has an ideal farm on the main roadway, between Letchworth and Caesar, where his modern home is located in a setting of trees that Mr. Rester planted years ago, so the attendant of the place said. The home is attractive and the very atmosphere of welcome. Recently Mr. Rester remodeled his dwelling and built a front porch of some twelve foot dimension or more. Mrs. Rester has grown giant plants of sultana and a species of begonia that would have won recognition in any flower show or county fair. The plants do so well in the semi-shade, it was said, and flower profusely at the hands of the lady of the house.

Across the roadway, from the house, are many acres of cane and in two or three weeks the annual making of syrup will begin. The Rester syrup, put up in cans, is best by test, and may be purchased in the stores of Bay St. Louis. It is pure and wholesome and a healthful delicacy as well as food for the children.

Five to Six Hundred Eggs Per Day. There are some five hundred white leghorns on the Rester poultry farm just now, possibly more, according to the statement made by Mr. Tom Matthews, former Bay St. Louis resident, who is the chief assistant. Just now the hens are moulting and egg producing is by no means at its peak. But next month, said the attendant, the daily pick up will be considerably larger. In time of plenty from five to six hundred eggs per day are gathered. Every egg is carefully examined before going out to the different markets, thus insuring the ultimate consumer an egg that is fresh and free from contamination. Little or no poultry is sold. The hens are culled occasionally, for only the young and laying ones are kept. Eggs are packed in cartons of the newer type, insuring protection, and delivered by truck, practically from farm to table.

If the visitor will retrace his route from the Rester place back towards the direction of Kiln, exactly one-eighth of a mile, he will find the cross country road, approximately ten miles, connecting with Picaune. This road is partly Hancock and the balance Pearl River County, and which of the two counties has succeeded in keeping it in better condition, at best, is a tie. The condition of this road, like others in Hancock county, is both a compliment to the Boards of Supervisors in Hancock and Pearl River counties.

Picaune Is Thriving. Along the road leading into Picaune, just as in Hancock, there are signs on every side of intelligent and progressive habitation. The houses are more numerous than formerly, well-painted and generally kept in that condition which best tells that somebody lives there. It was Sunday and Picaune was no, not at its best, but—at its dead-end. The lid is clamped tight on Sundays. Entering a place of business where liquid and edible refreshment is found, like an oasis in desert land, the writer asked what did the people do there on Sunday to while away the afternoon. "Those who do not manage to get away, go to bed and sleep," was the reply. However, how tight the lid may be clamped, we tried our luck at a slot machine and our thrill was only short lived. Dame fortune might smile on the seventh son but not on the seventh day.

Picaune is always pictured and featured in one's mind as an industrial city, where people labor and are well paid. But there is an other side to Picaune. It is a city of homes, typically beautiful and surrounded with every embellishment that nature makes possible. Also, a city of churches, schools, civic and other clubs that proclaim the high order of people who make up the community. Picaune is a city of homes, typically beautiful and surrounded with every embellishment that nature makes possible. Rock-A-Chaw Defeat Aloysius of New Orleans In Homecoming Game Sunday

As a fitting climax to the celebration of homecoming day at St. Stanislaus College last Sunday, the football game between the college, Rock-A-Chaw and Aloysius College of New Orleans, featured as the coming number of the activities of the memorable day.

Rock-A-Chaw of St. Stanislaus college fought their way to a 28 to 0 victory over the St. Aloysius eleven of New Orleans.

Though the local players won by a one-sided score they found a stiff defense offered by their foes. The Orleansians' offense was weak probably feeling the effect of the loss of Schaeffer, their star quarterback, in the first quarter.

Culotta, Camors, Linam and Baquet scored touchdowns for Stanislaus. Baquet intercepted a pass and ran 45 yards for a score. Daigle, Thriffley and Gus Miltenberger stood out for Aloysius.

Line-ups and summary:

Aloysius (0)	Pos.	Stanislaus (28)
Fritch	LT	Lilley
Thriffley	LT	Saucier
Daigle	LT	Genard

Painful Condition

"When I was just a girl at home," writes Mrs. B. F. Riggan, of Baird, Texas, "I took Cardui for cramping and pains in my side and back, and it helped me at that time. After I was married, I found myself in a weak, run-down condition. I suffered a great deal with my back, which was so weak it hurt me to get up or when I would stand on my feet. I fell off in weight. A friend of mine, seeing how bad I felt, advised me to take Cardui, which I did. By the time I had taken two bottles, I felt stronger and better than I had in a long time."

DON'T TELL YOUR TROUBLES.

Nobody knows that your luck has turned;
Nobody cares that your bridge has burned;
Nobody gives a rap when you've quit;
While you're sulking and skulking you don't count a bit.

We're working, we're busy, we're eager to try;
Permitting no chance for success to slip by.
Don't tell us your troubles—we've lots of our own;
Stop whining and pining and start in to "bone!"

We all have reverses, but we don't proclaim
The fact that our fortunes are spavined and lame.
We keep it a secret and seek to the end
We face the world smiling till luck starts to mend.

—N. Y. American.

MISSING HIS CUE

Susan thought Jack Shore was awfully stupid. Last night I fixed my lips to show him I could whistle and—
Susan—Yes, yes, go on.
Susan—Hello! He's whistling. Service Magazine.

We exaggerate misfortune and happiness alike. We are never either so wretched or so happy as we believe we are. —Haila.

OVERBURDENED TAX-PAYER.

Recently an Oklahoma banker wrote a letter to one of his customers relative to a request for a check. The letter apparently was the last straw. It broke the camel's back. This was the reply the banker got:

I wish to inform you that the present condition of my bank account makes it impossible for me to send you a check in response to your request.

My present financial condition is due to the effects of Federal Laws, State Laws, County Laws, By-Laws, Brother-in-Laws, Corporation Laws, Mother-in-Laws, and Outlaws, that have been foisted upon an unsuspecting public. Through these various Laws, I have been held down, held up, walked on, sat on, flat-tended and squeezed until I do not know where I am, what I am or why I am.

These laws compel me to pay a merchants tax, capital stock tax, excess tax, income tax, real estate tax, property tax, auto tax, gas tax, water tax, light tax, cigar tax, street tax, school tax, synax tax and carpet tax.

In addition to those taxes I am required and required to contribute to every society and organization that the inventive mind of men can organize. To the Society of St. John, The Women's Relief, Navy League, the Children's Home, the Policemen's Benefit, the Dorcas Society, the Y. M. C. A., the Boy Scouts, the Jewish Relief, the Near East, the Gold Diggers Home, also every hospital and every charitable institution in town. The Red Cross, the Black Cross, the White Cross, the Double Cross and the Purple Cross.

The government has so governed my business that I do not know who owns it. I am suspected, expected, inspected, disrespected, examined, re-examined, informed, required, commanded, and compelled until all I know is that I am supposed to provide an inexhaustible supply of money for every known, need desire or hope of the human race, and because I refuse to donate to all and go out and beg, borrow and steal money to give away, I am cursed and discussed, boycotted, talked to, talked about, lied to, lied about, held up, held down and robbed, until I am nearly ruined, so the only reason I am clinging to life is to see what the hell is coming next.

What the Oklahoma customer wrote, exaggerated perhaps, fairly represents the attitude of taxpayers the country over. They not only feel overburdened to the edge of despair, but that, after submitting to the law, they get less than a reasonable return for what they put up with the expenses of the government. The day evidently is coming when resistance to excessive taxation will be the universally dominating issue in this country.—N. O. States.

CHEVROLET NEW CAR IS ANNOUNCED—WILL BE LARGER—PRICE CUT

Has All Appearance "Big Car" and Changes and Refinements are Extensive—Will Be Priced Considerably Below Current Levels.

Cleveland, O., Nov. 3.—Definite assurance that Chevrolet will introduce a new car for 1931 on Saturday was revealed here today during the staging by Chevrolet factory officials of the first of fifty dealer meetings to be held in the next five weeks throughout the country.

Included in a carload of equipment brought in for the meeting was a new car substantially bigger than the current model, and extensively changed in appearance.

Although the meeting was closed to the public, it was learned that H. J. Kingier, vice-president and general sales manager of the Chevrolet Motor Co., who attended the meeting here, told the 500 dealers and associated bankers in attendance at the city auditorium that the car would be publicly announced the coming Saturday, and that, despite its increased size and improved appearance, it would be priced considerably below current levels.

Dramatic incidents attended the presentation of the car. It was trucked under canvas from the freight shed to the stage of the auditorium, and there, boxed in velvet drops and under a flood of spotlights, disclosed to the audience.

A burst of applause greeted the unveiling of the car, and when the announcement of new prices was made, a wild cheering dealer group interrupted proceedings for several minutes.

The car is longer than the present Chevrolet, and changes and refinements are so extensive that it has a decided "big car" appearance, one dealer reported.

If the sentiment among the dealers here is any criterion, the new car ought to prove the most successful product in the history of the company.

CITY ECHOES.

—Dr. C. M. Shipp, efficient county health officer, is spending Thursday of this week at Jackson on official business.

—Little Edith Griffith is quite ill at the home of her parents on Second street, we are sorry to state, and hope for her early recovery.

—Mr. and Mrs. Leo W. Seal were among the Bayites to spend Sunday at New Orleans, attracted by the football game of that afternoon.

—Mrs. H. C. Glover returned home Thursday evening from a New Orleans hospital, after undergoing a surgical ordeal and is home again and receiving the visits of friends.

—Dr. and Mrs. Stanford G. Beatty returned home from New Orleans Monday night, in which city they spent the week-end visiting relatives and friends.

—Mrs. George J. Toea and daughter, Eunice, came out from New Orleans Saturday for the week-end, and were guests of their relatives, Mr. and Mrs. M. Toea, Second street.

—Dr. and Mrs. Alvin P. Smith and party motored over to New Orleans Wednesday morning for the day, enjoying the trip over Huey P. Long's fine hard-surfaced roadway from the Miss.-La. line in to the metropolis.

—Lucien M. Gex and lovely young wife returned home Wednesday morning from Havana, Cuba, where they visited for ten days immediately following after their marriage in New Orleans recently.

—At the luncheon-meeting of the Bay Rotary Club Wednesday it was ordered a telegram be sent Rev. Father Gmelch who is convalescing at a hospital in New Orleans from a surgical operation, indicating solicitation and personal regard.

—Mr. A. Scafield was a business visitor to New Orleans Tuesday in the interest of disposing of part of his pecan crop. Watching the market and negotiating with parties to the best advantage keeps him busy at this season of the year.

—Claude Mont has a force of men working on the job, removing the remains of automobiles that have been consigned to the junk pile, an accumulation of years. Mr. Mont is co-operating with the Chamber of Commerce to clean-up and to make a better looking city.

—Contractors Garcia & Carr, beginning on their contract for the remodeling of the facade of The Echo building, met a situation they had not planned for. Heavy supporting timbers were found termite-ridden and steel beams will replace the honey-combed lumber.

—Miss Decima Rea left for her home in Vicksburg, Miss., Saturday morning after a stay of several weeks at the home of her brother, Mr. Geo. R. Rea, and wife. Friends of the family learn with much pleasure of Mrs. Rea's continued improvement and is able to be out again.

—Mrs. John Bryan and gentlemanly young sons, John and Jack, left Monday morning for New Orleans, closing the summer home at Cedar Point until early spring when they plan to return. John and Jack were pupils of Mrs. Stockstill's class at the Taylor City School and their progress has been so marked that it was with much reluctance the family fore its abode from here to New Orleans.

—Edward von Ehren announces the removal of the Riviera Furniture Company from the Monti Building, Union and Hancock streets, to the Scafield business building on Railroad avenue, the interior of which has undergone considerable improvement and renovation. The business formerly conducted will be continued and Mr. von Ehren plans upon an expansive program, with better goods at lower prices.

—Bynum, the local jeweler, sounds the first note of Christmas in the advertising columns of The Sea Coast Echo. And it serves as a reminder, to buy at home. Mr. Bynum is a reliable and trustworthy jeweler, and is certainly entitled to the confidence of our people, both of the city and county. If our slogan is going to be "Buy at Home" then there is no better time than the present to put it in practice.

—Mrs. E. J. Leonard returned home this week from a most interesting visit to friends at Houston and relatives at San Antonio, Texas, her visit to the latter-named she was thoroughly charmed with the history and romantic atmosphere of the Alamo City, and where she visited relatives. Grand Chapter, O. E. S., will meet in San Antonio next fall and Mrs. Leonard anticipates her return. In Houston she was the house-guest of her friend, Mrs. Braden.

—Johnny Scafield, studying law at Tulane, and a star of the Tulane football team, while playing the A. & M. eleven last Saturday sustained a painful injury about the shoulder and had to have his arm heavily bandaged. While the injury is not serious it is quite painful and will require time to get rid of. This gladiator of the Tulane team has many admirers for his splendid achievement on the grid iron, all of whom earnestly anticipate his early recovery and return to the team that is making history and winning fame by reason of the fact it is made up of men of his prowess and physical as well as mental alertness.

SCAFIDE PECAN ORCHARD IN BAY ST. LOUIS SIGHT WELL WORTH VISITING

Pioneer Pecan Growing—Has 475 Trees on 37 Acres Of Land Rear of City—Takes Scientific Care of Trees and Acquires Best Result.

Visitors to Bay St. Louis would find nothing of more interest than a casual visit to the pecan orchard of A. Scafield, facing the Old Spanish Trail, and located practically on the city-county line, the greater portion of which, however, lying in the county confines beyond the incorporated line.

Here are 37 acres with 475 pecan trees, loaded just now with the largest yield that has ever been noted. Some clusters carry as many as eight pecans, all of large size and of the paper shell variety. The trees are divided into two varieties, Success and Stewart, from among the best known and most desired varieties of grafted stock. Every tree is symmetrical in foliage, or leafy and healthy green hue and perfectly healthy. They are free from blight of any kind, and this due to the fact Mr. Scafield "works" his trees the entire year, unrelenting in attention and applying scientific and best known methods.

The trees were set out by Mr. Scafield and tenderly nurtured to their bearing majority and have yielded handsomely each year—but never like this season. Each is set out fifty feet apart. No matter how measured and at what angle there are 50 feet between each and every tree. This is said to be the approved distance for greater result.

The general pecan crop, while of abundant yield on the Mississippi Coast, will fall short eight million pounds, said Mr. Scafield, and makes a better market for the local product. Some already sold this season have realized as high as 42 cents the pound. It is possible prices will bring more later, however, one can never depend on the vagaries of the market.

A machine, operated by power, takes the pecan and "drops" respective sizes into various sacks, thus carrying out the assorting process and at the same time clearing and somewhat polishing the nut. This gives better sale value. The grader accomplishes its work automatically and never fails to properly separate each into its right classification. Mr. Scafield stated he does not thrash the pecan as is done in the general sense of the term. This, it was explained, would not only injure the trees, but would "ause the pecan to fall before it had properly ripened, thus every nut is picked at the proper time. The work of gathering from 475 trees is no small task and as a result several men are constantly employed to handle the crop.

As to how many pounds will be harvested no guess would be made, but in a general way the assertion was hazarded that possibly 25,000 pounds would be the total yield.

Mr. Scafield sells his own pecans, principally to buyers in New Orleans, selling at various times and in various quantities as the season advances and the demand increases. While some growers retail and ship to a mail order trade, packing in cartons, Mr. Scafield's is too abundant and must be handled in wholesale lots, so

Young People Have Charming Afternoon at Hallowe'en Party

Mrs. George Heitzmann, assisted by her daughter, Mrs. John-Damborino, entertained at her home in Hancock street, members of the Sixth Grade class, Bay Central school, at an All Hallowe'en party Friday evening 7 P. M. that proved an affair of both beauty in decoration and abundant in pleasure.

Decoration motif was black and orange and the combined colors predominated in tasteful effect. Every favor, as well as the refreshment, reflected the colors. Various games were indulged in and later the prize winners announced were Ulysses Fayard, Margery Rose Fayard, Dorthea Fayard, Carl Smith, Nelius Rhodes, Florence Luc.

Participating in the evening's pleasure were Masters Billy Star, Ulysses Fayard, Nelius Rhodes, Carl Smith, Fred Fayard, Jr., Misses Lottie Mae Heitzmann, Adelaide Heitzmann, Margie Rose Fayard, Abbie Bourgeois, Dorthea Fayard, Mary Alice Telhardt, Margie Seuzneau, Joyce Spotorno, Florence Luc.

When asked if it was not a fact that a certain caterpillar worm invaded the orchard and attacked the trees and how he fought this pest, Mr. Scafield replied that he anticipated that by treating each tree at the root, where the larvae of the worm is located. By attacking the soil he intercepts the worm in its embryonic stage and at once gains mastery over its inevitable ravages.

No grass is allowed to grow under the trees and the soil is loosened. This affords the absorption of all possible moisture and keeps the tree fit and in condition to combat with any disease that might otherwise arise.

Mr. Scafield is the pioneer pecan grower of this section. He started out fifteen years ago and has kept at it ever since, never relinquishing interest. How well his unflinching interest and constant solicitations have been repaid is well attested to by the fact of the size of the crop he at present is collecting.

Place One of Much Interest.

The Scafield home is on the edge of the great orchard and faces the Trail. It is a new and modern home and in line with the well-known correct methods of the master.

Mrs. Scafield has her own pastime which she has turned into a decided profit, and that is the pursuit of poultry raising. At present there are six hundred biddies, all white leghorns, just a few days from the incubator. Mrs. Scafield is successful in both poultry raising and egg-selling, collecting several hundred a day in time of prime production. Her activities help to supply the local market.

CITY COUNCIL ADDS NEW EQUIPMENT AND PLANS OTHER IMPROVEMENTS

Purchases Two Work Trucks—Will Build Another Water Reservoir For More Water and Power—Supplements Garage Building.

In order to better expedite its street and general outdoor work the board of city mayor and city commissioners on Monday purchased an additional truck, one and one-half ton capacity, with steel dump body and of the Ford type. This gives the city three trucks. However, the last one purchased was to replace one that has served the city long and well and its usefulness will be worked out till the end. The trade allowance was so negligible an amount that it was decided more could be gotten out of the truck than the few dollars realized in trade. The purchase was made through the Edwards Bros., Bay St. Louis agency.

PURCHASED FOR THE WATERWORKS DEPARTMENT.

Another truck purchase was also made this week. This for the waterworks department exclusively and is a half-ton truck of the Chevrolet manufacture and will be used for carrying pipe and other paraphernalia used by the public utilities department. This truck was sold the city through the Bay St. Louis agency of the Bay Chevrolet Company, Leo Ford, proprietor.

CITY PLANS EXTENSIVE WATERWORKS IMPROVEMENT

The budget not only allows for the cash purchase of these trucks but also for extensive improvements in the waterworks department, which will give more water and power. The city plans to build another reservoir of concrete to give more water and power for both drinking and fire purposes. These tanks respectively hold 225,000 gallons of water. The new one will be supplied with a fire main wall of the city's located in Booker avenue, and the piping over the long distance will call for use pipe that is already on hand, thus saving that expense, Commissioner Leiner stated.

NEW BUILDING FOR GARAGE AND WAREHOUSE.

A building, 20x30, is in course of construction on the city's property, Ulman avenue, that will serve for the double purpose of housing tools, pipe, and other supplies on hand and also to house the two new trucks purchased by the city and is built to largely relieve a congestion of property that has accumulated in the fire engine house. It is proposed to relieve the present building in order not to handicap the operation of the fire department in case of emergency.

The building is constructed of frame and covered with corrugated iron and roofed with the same material, making it if not fire-proof of the slow-burning type. This structure is built under the most economic plan of securing divers bids and prices on material.

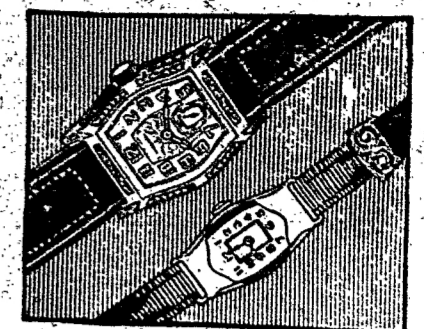

STREET CLEANING FORCE ON BOULEVARD.

A force of street cleaners have been working along the paved North Beach Boulevard and Carroll avenue this week, including the business district. Collecting the accumulated dust on street edges and scrupulously sweeping following the work of the shovels means for cleaner thoroughfares and improving sanitary conditions. This work continues over the city. It is noted the weekly garbage collection never fails and helps the home holder to keep the premises cleaner and healthier. It is a well organized system and few cities of the size of Bay St. Louis has so thorough a system.

DISTINGUISHED VISITOR.

C. R. Huffman, of the Chicago Tribune, the "World's Greatest Newspaper" was a visitor to Bay St. Louis Tuesday afternoon on business, connected with The Sea Coast Echo. Mr. Huffman pays the Mississippi Gulf Coast great tribute.
